A Job Alleged in Brooklyn's Street-Cleaning Contract.

Commissioner Adams Restrained from Making the Award.

The Payments Would Aggregate $145,000 Over the Limit.

Justice Cullen, in the Supreme Court, porary injunction, restraining Public Works Commissioner Adams from maka three years' street-cleaning con-

Argument on a motion to make the function permanent will be heard next saturday.

James Matthews, who secured the intention claimed that such a contract result be illegal, because it provided for a payments aggregating $14.00 to the amount allowed by the Board Estimate. The Board allowed $150,000 year for the work.

or he amount allowed by the Hoard of Estimate. The Board allowed $150,000 a year for the work.
Furey's bid called for $190,000 for the first year, the same for the second, and 215,000 for the third.
There were three bidders for the contract, and Matthews claims that they were in collusion.
Mr. Matthews is the Fulton street merchant and President of the Consolidation league, or Brooklyn. He has taken up the 19th against the political ring in the City of Churches and has employed attorney sanders Shanks to work out the secrets of the mysterious street-cleaning contract.
Furey's the well-known politician who is said to be acting as the messenger of "hoss." Malaughlin in trying to get on the good side of Fresident Cleveland.
As showing that there was collusion in the bidding the fact was recited in court that there were only three bidders for the contract to Furey.
Furey's bid was: First year, $190,000; second year, $180,000; third year, $240,000. Norton & Gorman's bid was: First year, $190,000; second year, $180,000; third year, $240,000. Norton & Gorman's bid was: First year, $190,000; when year at the contract to Furey.
The exceeding the fact was recited in court that there were only three bidders for the contract to Furey.
Furey's bid was: First year, $190,000; second year, $180,000; third year, $240,000. Norton & Gorman's bid was: First year, $290,000; second year, $180,000; third year, $240,000. Norton & Gorman's bid was: First year, $190,000; where year is second year, $180,000; third year, $240,000. Norton & Gorman's bid was: First year, $190,000; where yet year the contract to Furey.
The excuse of the Commissioner of Public Works for accepting a bid above the estimate the profits are large, led to an investigation by Mr. Matthews.
The result of this investigation is further expressed by him in the court papers, as the form of the deport.

d. Notwithstanding this entanglement. Com-issioner Adams told an "Evening World" missioner Adams told an "Evening World" reporter to-day that the thought of collusion among the bidders had never suggested itself to him. "The case is one dealing entirely with law points," he said, "and I am leaving it to Cor-poration Counsel Junks."

r. Jenks would not express an opinion. Mayor Boody, upon whom papers were also served, was equally non-communicative. Attorney Shanks said there was no doubt of the illegality of the contract Commissioner Adams intended making, and that the principal point would be to prove collusion. Prindial Held to Be Examined as to His Sanity.

John Prindial was held by Judge Tighe in the Butler Street Court, Brooklyn, this morning in order to subject him to examination as to his sanity.

Prindial was found near the Hamilton ferry about a week ago wandering aimlessly about. He was arrested and a revolver was found in one of his pockets.

This morning he told Justice Tighe that he was worth $15,000,000, Part of this was locked up in six rows of eleven-story red brick houses, and the balance in a flourishing circus now travelling through the South.

Prindial was poorly dressed and about thirty years old. He objected strenus ously to riding in the prison van. He said that his coachman would drive him to jail if he had to go there. Alderman Parks made a speech, and he resolution was adopted. President McClellan appointed the committee called for by the resolution, with Mr. Parks as chairman.
Alderman Flynn thought at first that he was not included in the Pst. He was preparing to make a speech, and was saying that the First Ward, which he represented, was surrounded by water, when President McClellan informed him that his was the second name on the committee. He offered no further objection them.
Alderman Flynn introduced an ordinance to compel expressmen to farnish $100 bonds. Referred to the Law Committee.
